

Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature

To write about your contemporaries is a risky business; your interest may be too personal, your involvement too close. But this, as Susan Suleiman aims to demonstrate here, is precisely what makes such a critical encounter worthwhile. Her book shows how the process of self-recognition - even self-construction - in the reading of contemporary work can lead to larger considerations about culture and society; and to the dimensions of historical awareness and collective action. Suleiman suggests a fresh way of looking at issues that are as personal as they are relevant in the writing, the criticism, and the life of our times. Through her readings of Simone de Beauvoir, Mary Gordon, Julia Kristeva, Richard Rorty, Helene Cixous, Elie Wiesel and others, Suleiman enters a dialogue with those who share her place and time, and whose interests and preoccupations meet her own. She confronts with them the conflicts between writing and motherhood. Together, they inquire into being postmodern and explore the connections between creativity and love. They consider the place of beauty in contemporary art, examine the relations between aesthetics and politics, and reflect on living memories of World War II. Through Suleiman's encounter with them, these writers and artists enter an exchange with each other, and with the readers, opening new perspectives on the representation of women's lives, history and memory, the intersection of gender and postmodernism, and autobiography.

: Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature: xiii, 271 pp., illus., bib. notes, index 25 cm. Firm binding, clean text. To write about your contemporaries, whose work is enmeshed in the stuff of your life, is risky business. But as Susan Suleiman demonstrates in this lively and Buy Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature by Susan Rubin Suleiman (ISBN: 9781482612707) from Amazon's Book Store. Buy Risking Who One Is ? Encounters With Contemporary Art & Literature (Paper) by Susan Rubin Suleiman (ISBN:) from Amazon's Book Store. Everyday low In the shadow of ethnic cleansing and rigid nationalism, a noted academic literary critic examines exemplary creations of the plural self Risking Who One Is: : Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature by Susan Risking Who One Is shows how the process of self-recognition in the reading Through Suleimans encounter with them, these writers and artists enter an RISKING WHO ONE IS by Susan Rubin Suleiman. RISKING WHO ONE IS. Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature. by Susan Rubin On the cover of Susan Rubin Suleimans latest book is a painting by the contemporary Hungarian artist Laszlo Feher: above the viewer, gazing outward from the Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data Suleiman, Susan Rubin, 1939- Risking who one is: encounters with contemporary art and literature / Susan Suleiman S. Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature. Harvard University Press 1994 pp. 288. To write about your contemporaries, whose work is enmeshed in the stuff of your life, is risky business. But as Susan Suleiman demonstrates in Buy Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature by Susan Rubin Suleiman (1996-02-01) by (ISBN:) from Amazons Book Store. Summary. To write about your contemporaries, whose work is enmeshed in the stuff of your life, maybe even in the weave of your self, is risky business. Risking Who One Is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature Susan Rubin Suleiman ISBN: 9781482612707 Kostenloser Versand fur alle Bucher Risking who One is: Encounters with Contemporary Art and Literature. Front Cover. Susan Rubin Suleiman. Harvard University Press, 1996 - Art - 271 pages.