

The Last Tram

What I know about is absence; the endless geography of yearning... For Nedim Gürsel, the state of exile isn't a static condition, applying to a single person in a specific place, but an entire landscape of longing, through which he, and countless other emigres, must travel; a mobile experience, a moveable feast. In these stories Gürsel crisscrosses modern Europe, settling in some cities like Paris for many years, visiting others several times, decades apart. But none of them quite constitutes home. Nor is return to his native Turkey from which Gürsel was himself exiled for his political writings in the 70s ever really possible, though through his stories, dreams, and memories, he makes many attempts. Art, history, architecture, contemporary politics... all these feed into the swirling palette of colours with which Gürsel paints the migrant experience. Not to mention a host of unforgettable characters: the lonely Mustafa who cares only for the fate of his beloved poplar tree, back home on the Anatolian plain; the tragic Madame Suslova recalling memories of a lover who squandered her money on the roulette tables of Istanbul; or the Coci family making their desperate way through the Frejus Tunnel, as re-imagined by an eager documentary maker. Indeed such is the poetry of Gürsel's writing, it is little surprise that even in exile he is regarded as one of Turkey's greatest living writers. One of the few contemporary Turkish writers who have brought something new to our literature Yashar Kemal.

Fifty years ago today, on the 25 February 1961, Sydney's last electric trams operated on the La Perouse and Maroubra Beach lines. The last* the Deansgate-Castlefield to Manchester Airport early morning service operating 3am-6am Mon-Fri (7am on Sunday and public holidays) runs every 20 minutes. If you are catching a tram from a stop which has several services running through it then the frequency of trams will increase.* the Deansgate-Castlefield to Manchester Airport early morning service operating 3am-6am Mon-Fri (7am on Sunday and public holidays) runs every 20 minutes. If you are catching a tram from a stop which has several services running through it then the frequency of trams will increase. - 1 min - Uploaded by British PatheMS Glasgow's last tram entering the depot for last time. The parade passes through crowded Catching the Last Tram has 30 ratings and 17 reviews. walkingforthe loveofbooks said: This book grabbed me straight away and shook me with the very first Until 1958, trams formed a network spanning most of Adelaide, with a history dating back to . The last tram line built in Adelaide was the Erindale line which opened in early 1944. At maximum extent the lines connected Adelaide with the sea Between 19 Manchester Corporation Tramways was the municipal operator of .. By 1949 just a few miles of track were left in Manchester and the last tram ran on 10 January of that year. The last of the old tram cars were stored at Buy Night Song of the Last Tram: A Glasgow Memoir Reprint by Robert Douglas (ISBN: 9780340838617) from Amazons Book Store. Everyday low prices and Leeds Corporation Tramways formerly served the city of Leeds, England. The original trams The last remaining [Leeds horse tram no 107] is now being restored by the Leeds Transport Historical Society. What were once commonly thought to There are calls for Liverpools last tram to be returned to its home city from its current home in a museum in the USA. Night Song of the Last Tram - A Glasgow Childhood has 221 ratings and 27 reviews. A wonderfully colourful and deeply poignant memoir of growing up in a The development of tram systems was pioneered in the UK in Birkenhead in 1860. In 1868 the first official trams ran on the streets of Liverpool. Originally pulled The very last tram to rumble along the capitals streets arrived at south-east Londons New Cross depot in the early hours of this morning. It was driven by John Find out all you need to know about Edinburgh Trams. Trams run regularly throughout the day and into the evening. Trams Last end-to-end* trams leave at: - 10 min - Uploaded by glasgowwest A short film made during the last days of trams in Glasgow. (Slightly edited for time) - 3 min - Uploaded by statelibrarywa A short story about the last public tram to run in Perth. Created by staff at the State Library of - 56 sec - Uploaded by British Pathe New Cross and Westminster, London. GV. Trams running, pan to another. SV. Sign on tram